FRONTLINE

31ST OF JANUARY 2023

Following her mystifying debut 'Hades Has A Daughter', comes Chelsea Silva's sophomore single 'Frontline', a guitar driven ballad that highlights the ebbs and flows of physical and emotional turmoil brought on by mental illness.

Chelsea's voice is rich and witty, rising and falling in weight, but never losing its presence amidst a song that teeters on the borderline of a melancholic pop tune and a defiant ballad of love and war. 'Frontline's' sonic and thematic plane is the battlefield on which the war for freedom and control over one's body and mind is fought.

Well-respected producers, Paul Aidan and David Skeet, were instrumental in the production of 'Hades Has A Daughter' and have outstanced once again with their offerings on 'Frontline', a partnership that will continue with future releases. The song will be available on all streaming and downloading platforms on the 31st of January 2023.

"Frontline is honestly my favourite song in her setlist. I can't wait to hear it in full on the release day!"

- 23 year old heterosexual male.

"A vulnerable song written from a vulnerable heart. The first line of the chorus gave me goosebumps!"

-22 year old bisexual female.

"What an incredible musical piece for such compelling and real lyrics. Amazing!"

- 21 year old heterosexual female.

"Frontline is a story about mental illness and what may come with it. Writing this song wasn't easy. I had to look through all the light and dark parts of myself to truly capture my personal experience of mental health. I hope that sharing my song to the world will help other people realise that they are not alone in their struggle for a better and healthier future for themselves. "
